Frank Lloyd Wright 150th Birthday Gala: A Red Tie Event

Package #1 – Breakfast at Tiffany

You and four guests are invited for breakfast at Tiffany’s famous Fifth Avenue jewelry store in the private jewelry Salon. Following this gracious start to the day you will be led through the Tiffany Workshop, where master designers handcraft the world’s most exquisite diamond and gemstone jewels. The auction winner will also take home a Tiffany Keys 1.5” long crown key pendant on a 16” white gold chain with round brilliant diamonds. The piece retails for $2,700, a dazzling memento of an enchanting Tiffany experience.

How to Redeem

Please note, this event must be booked at least three weeks in advance and take place Monday through Friday on a mutually agreed upon date and time prior to November 20, 2018. Breakfast will begin at 10:15am. This package is non-transferable. The winner of the package should contact Anthony Palencsar, Tiffany Salon Concierge, via email: anthony.palencsar@tiffany.com or 212.605.4200 to schedule the breakfast. Airfare is not included.

Package #2 – Olgivanna Wright’s desk, prototype

Olgivanna Lloyd Wright’s bedroom at Taliesin was restored in 2015. Critical to completion of the room was reproduction of a lost writing desk that Frank Lloyd Wright designed for his wife. As the final stage of the restoration of the bedroom suite, craftsman Stafford Norris III, working from archival photo resources and new plans created at Taliesin, recreated the desk in old growth cypress just in time for the 150th anniversary of Wright’s birth.

A working prototype was built in cherry wood to confirm scale and dimensions of the final desk.

Package #3 - Heloise Crista "Romeo and Juliet" sculpture

In 1949, Heloise Crista joined the Taliesin Fellowship. Since then, she has continued to live and work as a sculptor at Taliesin West and is an active member of the Taliesin community. Heloise's sculptures combine her sensitivity to balance and movement with the ideas and philosophies of Frank Lloyd Wright. Her incredible works of art are displayed throughout Taliesin West.

The story of Romeo and Juliet is a tragedy caused by circumstances already set in motion before they even met. Destined as they might have been for each other, the bitter antagonism between their warring families forced them apart, and led them to dire, unintended consequences. In our minds now, however, what remains when we think of Romeo and Juliet is their pledge of true love forever.

Package #4 – 1960’s Imperial china place setting

Noritake Imperial Hotel is high-quality china featuring a modern, asymmetrical, geometric design with circles of red, yellow, and pale blue on a white, coupe-shaped body. The design is by Frank Lloyd Wright, who, when he designed buildings, often designed the interior appointments, as well. This pattern was created for the informal dining room of the Imperial Hotel in Tokyo, Japan, which Wright designed in 1916. The hotel was completed in 1923, and survived the “Great Kanto Earthquake,” measuring 7.9 on the Richter scale, that same year. The hotel was demolished in 1968. With its bold design and unique history, Noritake Imperial Hotel offers sophistication in applied art that will make a wonderful addition to any collection.

Package #5 - Dinner prepared by Foundation President & CEO Stuart Graff

This dinner is a rare opportunity to have an intimate experience at Taliesin West. You and up to four guests will enjoy a night with Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation President and CEO Stuart Graff as he prepares a five-course foodie dream experience. Starting with cocktails and homemade tapas on the Prow for sunset, you'll move into the space reserved by Wright for his most private affairs—the private dining room, off the garden room at Taliesin West. There, you and your guests will enjoy a meal designed just for you as you celebrate a special event, or just enjoy an evening of conversation about the history of Taliesin West and the celebrity guests who enjoyed similar evenings in the Wrights' time. You'll finish with some of Stuart's signature homemade gelato and flourless brownies and cakes, including treats to take home.

Package #7 – Taliesin Estate Tours

On the Estate Tour, guests are shuttled to the Taliesin estate for a 4-hour hiking tour that takes you through the estate’s Driftless country hills. Some of the highlights include:

- Exploring Hillside, the school that Wright designed for his aunts. Here, you’ll see the Assembly Hall, Fellowship Dining Room, Drafting Studio, and the Theater.
- Taking a hike past the Romeo & Juliet windmill tower, the oldest design on the estate.
- Getting a close-up look at Tan-y-Deri, the home Wright built for his sister Jane Porter.
- Walking past Midway Barns en route to Wright’s home, Taliesin.

Halfway through the tour, you’ll be served light refreshments and sweet treats while relaxing on Wright’s terrace before enjoying an interior and exterior tour of the home.

Comfortable walking shoes are a must for this tour, it includes a 1½ mile hike, with a couple of hills, from one end of the estate to the other, with no opportunity to sit down.
